

TRAINING SOLUTIONS

The members of Value Transformation have experience in teaching and training. Our staff has experience teaching at Universities, Community Colleges, and businesses. We offer training in a number of delivery methods. Online (Moodle) at your pace, online with coaching via virtual classroom, or we come to your facility and lastly, at some designated other location.

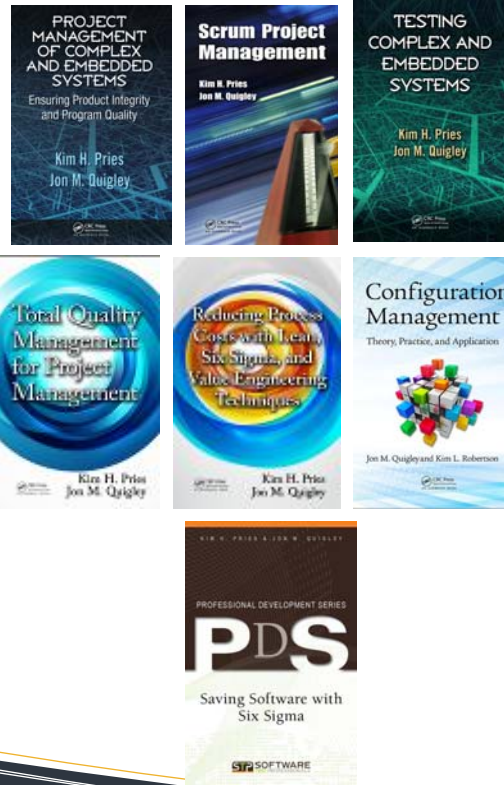

At Value Transformation LLC

we strip away the clutter. We participate as part of your internal team. We also strive to have long term relationships with our customers, that is where the satisfaction of a job well done can be found.

Today's competitive environment requires constantly developing the talent of your employees and that does not happen by accident. Understanding what a company needs and then setting about growing the existing talent improves the volume of the work done and the quality as well. Let Value Transformation LLC partner with you, helping you grow your people and improving your processes and products.

Grow your company by growing your competencies and capabilities. Value Transformation is the perfect blend of theoretical and application. The members have been in industry for decades, hold advanced degrees and certifications, and often have been teaching at universities, technical schools and businesses to hone their training craft. Call us and we will partner with you to get where you want your organization to be.

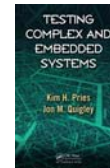

PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Our staff are internationally known experts in the discipline of project management. We are a perfect balance of experience and theoretical in both agile and conventional project approaches. We also have experience mashing these two together to improve productivity.

PRODUCT QUALITY

Our staff have a wealth of experience in delivering a quality product from quality assurance through product testing and launch. That experience contains product and manufacturing experience as both are required to produce a quality product. We can help build your competency and your product quality.

CUSTOM ONLINE TRAINING

Our online training meets your needs without the hassle of travel and impacts to your home life and normal routine. We offer this training at a variety of instructor interaction levels as well, from solo to lectures and guided practice.

TRAINING AT YOUR LOCATION

We save you money and time by conducting the training at your facility. We are even available for weekend events to minimize impact.

SPEAKING

We speak on a variety of product development project and product management topics. These are both enlightening and entertaining. Contact us about speaking at your next organizational function.

CONSULTING

Available for consulting on your product development and product and project management endeavors. We will bring our decades of experience and education to help find the solution.
